To Colorado

How to Go

Let us assume that you have made a wise decision and are going to Colorado for your vacation this summer. The next question is—how to go? Right here is the answer: via Rock Island System.

The Rock Island has put on a new morning train from Chicago—besides its two evening trains. The new one—COLORADO FAST MAIL—is the quickest one-night train to Denver and Colorado Springs, leaving Chicago in the morning (8.20 a. ns.)

The Rocky Mountain Limited leaving Chicago at 5,45 p. m. reaches Colorado next evening—the Colorado Express is two nights in transit. Two daily trains from Kansas City; one from St. Louis; through sleeper daily from Memphis.

This season Rock Island-Colorado trains are teaplendent with new equipment—electric lights, electric fans. A full score of new chair cars and coaches just placed in service.

Go via Rock Island and GO IN STYLE: - It costs no more.

Low rates all summer - away down on certain dates. Coupon below will bring Colorado book with list of stopping places.

The Adventure of the Norwood Builder

No. 2 of the Series

I did so, and, driven by the draft, a coil of gray smoke swirled down the corrider, while the dry straw crackled and famed

"Now we must see if we can find this witness for you, Lestrade. Might I ask you all to join in the ery of 'Fire'. Now, then one, two, three!" "Fire," we all yelled.

Thank you. I will trouble you once agnin.'

"Just once more, gentlemen, and all over Norwood. It had hardly died away when an amazing liting happened. A door sud-dealy flew open out of what appeared to be solul wall at the end of the corridor and a little wizened man daried om of It like a raidjt om of its bur-

"t'aphal!" said Holmes calmly. "Watson, a bucket of water over the straw, That will do? Lestrule, allow me to present you with your principal missing witness, Mr. Jonas Oldacre."

The detective stared at the newcom er with blank amuzement. The latter was blinking in the bright light of the corridor and peering at us and at the smoldering fire. It was an odlons face erufty, victors, malignant, with shifty, light gray eyes and white Insher.

"What's this, then?" sold Lestrade at last, "What have you been doing all this time, ch?"

Oldgere gave an imeicry laugh, shrink ing back from the furious red face of the augry detective

"I have done no harm"

'No harm? You have done your best to get an innocent mior hange t. If it wasp't for this gentleman here I am not sure that you would not have suc recited."

The wretched erenture began to whimper. "I am sure, sir, it was only my prac-tien! Joke."

"Oh, a Joke, was It? You won't find the laugh on your side, I promise you, Take him down and keep him in the sliting room until Leome Mr. Holmes," re continued when they had gone, "I could not apeak before the constables, but I don't ailud saylug in the presence thing that you have done yet, though it is a mystery to me how you did it. Von: have saved an innocent man's life, and you have prevented a very grave seandal, which would have ruloed my repu-Inliên in the tarce." Holmes smiled and clapped Lestrade.

upon the shuthler

"Instead of being rutued, my good sir, you will flud that your reputation has been enormously enhanced. Just make a few alterations in that report which you were writing and they will understand how hard It is to throw dust in the eyes of Inspector Lestinde," ' And you don't want your name to: appear?"

"Not at all. The work is its own reward. Perhaps I shall get the credit niso at some distum day, when I pernd my zealous historian to lay out his foolscap once more ch, Witson? Well, now, let us see where this rat has been lurking."

A lath and plaster partition had been run across the passage six feel from the end, with a door cunningly concented in it. It was lit within by slits imder the enves. A few articles of furniture and a supply of food and water were within, together with a number of looks mul payers.

"There's the advantage of being a builder," said Holmes as we came out. He was able to the up his own little hiding place without any confederate, save, of course, that preclous housekeeper of his, whom I should lose in time in adding to your bag, Lestrade."

"I'll take your advice. Hat how did you know of this place, Mr. Holmes?" "I made up my inhul that the fellow was in hilling in the house. When I paced one corridor and found it six feet shorter than the corresponding one below it was pretty clear where he was. I thought he had not the nervo In lie quiet before an alarm of fire. We could, of course, have gone in and like en lilai, but it amused me to make him revent himself. Heskles, I awed yan s little mystification, Lestrade, for your chuff in the marning." "Well," sir, you certainly got equal with me on Hat. Ilm how in the world dld you know that he was in the house at all?"

"The thumb mark, Lestrade. You said it was fittle and so it was in a not been there the day before I pay a good deal of attention in uniters of detall, us you may have observed, and I had examined the hall and was niv that the wall was clear. Insistore H had been put on during the night,"

"But bow?"

"Very slimply. When those packets were sealed up Jonus Hidacre got Mc-Farlane to secure one of the seals by putting his thumb upon the soft wax. It would be done so quitkly and so naturally that I disre say the young man himself line no revollection of it. Very likely Mt Just so happened, and Oldnere had himself un notion of the use he would put it to. Brooding over the case in that den of his, it sublenly alruck him what absolutely damulag evidence he coubl make against Me-Furlage by using that thumb mark. It was the simplest thing by the world for him to take a wax impression from the seal, to moisten it in as much blood as he could get from a pln prick and heput the mark uppn the wall dur log the night either with his own hand or with that of his housekeeper, 16 you examine among those documents which he took with him into his retreat I will lay you a wager that you find the seal with the Humb mark

"Wonderful!" sald Lestrade. "Woaderful! It's all as clear as crystal as you put it. But what is the object of this deep deception, Mr. Holmes?"

It was nameing to me to see how the detective's overbearing annuer had hanged suddenly to that of a child usking questions of its teacher.

"Well, I don't think that is very hard, to explain. A very deep, unilcions, vinilletive person is the gentleman who is now waiting us downstairs. You know that he was once refused by Mrs. Farlane's mother? You don't! I told you that you should go to Blackheath first and Norwood afterward. Well, this injury, as he would consider it, has rankled in his wicked, scheming brain, and all his life he has longed for rengeance, but never seen his chance, Unring the last year or two things here gone against him-secret speculation, I thluk-nul he finds himself in a bad way. He determines to swindle Lis creditors, and for this purpose he pays large cheeks to a certain Mr. Parnellits, who is, I lungine, himself under another name. I have not traced these checks yet, but I have no doubt that they were banked under that name at some provincial town, where Oldnere from time to time led a double exist ence. He intended to change his name altogether, draw his money and vanish, starting life again elsewhere."

"Well, that's likely enough." "It would strike him that in disuppearing he might throw all pursuit off his track and at the same time have an ample and ernshing revenge upon his old sweetheart if he could give the im- cold?
